Uniting European Nurses and Health Science Colleagues In Human Caring

Dr. Jean Watson, known for her Theory and Science of Human Caring, and founder of Watson Caring Science Institute(WCSI), Boulder, Colorado - USA invited European nurses and interdisciplinary scholars committed to Caring Science, to a purposive scientific gathering in Torino, Italy on June 23, 24, 2014

The invitational interdisciplinary gathering was hosted by Dr. Jean Watson (www.watsoncaringscience.org) and Caring in Progress Association, Turin - Italy ( www.humancaringprogress.org )

The program provided a special focused opportunity and opened spaces to share current work in setting or personal scholarship about Caring Science.

Italian Nurses, Doctors and other Professional attended to the Event as such as Colleagues coming from different European (Swiss, Ireland, Denmark) and International Countries (Colorado, Hawaii, Canada).

Precious contributes, wealthy in experiences about theme and offered by Speakers, allowed to create a framework where research, professional practice, education and future developments about Caring and Caring Science got a wide space.

For European Countries that attended the Special Gathering it could be the chance of a lifetime to develop a common work about Caring Science.
